

NATIONAL ASSESSMENT WEEK

— EST. 2022 —

Summary Meet and Greet Notes for July 31, 2025

National Assessment Week Regional Representatives Meeting Summary

Meeting Overview

Host: Sakile Camara (California State University, Northridge - West Region)

Purpose: Onboard regional representatives for National Assessment Week planning

Date: Mid-summer meeting (next meeting scheduled for September 9, 2025)

Key Participants & Their Assessment Superpowers

- Alyce Odasso (Texas A&M - South): Facilitating shared ownership of assessment
- Terrance Cao (Pepperdine - West): Data file manipulation and formatting
- Seta Khajarian (Pepperdine - West): Assessment alignment
- Andrea Brewster (Calbright College - West): Re-envisioning assessment for competency-based education
- Melissa Deadmond (Truckee Meadows CC - West): Working with data and trend analysis
- Emily Sharma (Parker University - South): Project management and coordination
- Kristina Young (Cascadia College - Northwest): Extracting intent/outcomes and defining assessment needs
- Cecelia Martin (Clark College - Northwest): Calming people about assessment
- Laura Kathryn Neal (DeVry University): Identifying assessment gaps and alignment issues
- Denise Shaver (Pratt Institute - Northeast): Passion for assessment and knowledge transfer

About National Assessment Week

- Fourth annual event scheduled for the first week of April
- Last year's theme: "Getting Real with Assessment" (embracing challenges, being authentic and transparent)
- Previous year: Over 100 attendees in some presentations, well-attended events
- Goal: Build a national community and a comprehensive narrative about assessment value

Regional Representative Roles & Responsibilities

1. Liaison function: Connect the region with the national team
2. Encourage participation during National Assessment Week
3. Share success stories from campuses and regions
4. Coordinate/co-host assessment events (can repurpose existing campus events for a national audience)
5. Reach out to regional contacts and listen to area voices
6. Marketing support available from the organizing team

Important Dates & Next Steps

- September (2nd week): Planning meeting to discuss theme selection and vote
- First week of April: National Assessment Week 2025
- Between now and September: Regional reps should gather input from their areas about desired themes and activities

New Technology Tool: AMEE Flow

Sakile demonstrated a project management platform she developed:

- User dashboard for task tracking and completion
- Team collaboration features (can add staff/faculty to help with tasks)
- Calendar integration for event planning
- Automated notifications and progress tracking
- Guest access capabilities for dashboard sharing

- Support ticket system for technical issues

Collaboration Opportunities

- Association for Assessment of Learning in Higher Education (AALHE) reached out for potential collaboration
- Possible panel discussions with national organizations (AALHE, AACU, NACE)
- Vendor presentations (had 4-5 vendors participate last year on Fridays)

Budget Considerations

- Events are free for participants (no membership fees)
- Regional collaboration recommended to share costs
- Typical speaker fees: $150-250 when budget allows
- Alternative approaches: Use campus colleagues, graduate students, or partners with other institutions

Resources Available

- National Assessment Week website: nationalassessmentweek.org (373+ members)
- Slack workspace for ongoing communication
- Shared Box drive with previous year's materials and templates
- Marketing materials and branding support provided
- Toolkit available on website

Action Items for Regional Reps

1. Register on nationalassessmentweek.org if not already done
2. Join the Slack workspace for ongoing communication
3. Access the shared Box drive for resources and previous materials
4. Complete the first task in the AMEE Flow system (register for meet and greet)
5. Gather regional input on themes and desired activities before the September meeting

6. Begin campus conversations about assessment practices and potential collaboration
7. Put name in chat for meeting attendance record

The meeting emphasized that National Assessment Week aims to be an inclusive, vendor-agnostic platform that serves as a "gap partner" to larger national assessment organizations, providing free, accessible professional development during a coordinated national week of assessment celebration and learning.